Once to Every Man and Nation

37 Stories of How People Became Bahá'ís

www.BahaiTools.com

What People Are Saying

"I'm in Haifa and tonight I went to a talk by Hand of the Cause Dr. Varqa. He was talking about the importance of teaching the Faith and having persistence -- not being afraid. He said that people discover the Faith in so many different ways and we have to be open to the fact that for every person it is different. He then said one of his favorite books is 'Once to Every Man and Nation' because it tells the story of 37 people finding the Faith. It was a great moment to hear him talk about the book, especially considering that I know the authors personally!" — Anisa Leyla Ghadrshenas

"What a wonderful compilation of stories you gathered in Once to every Man and Nation. I regularly read these stories to the youth who attend classes in our home. It is a fantastic collection that inspires and moves the reader and hopefully results in action and perseverance in the teaching field." — Marjan Jones, Australia

"WOW! I bought that book while living in Haifa and loved it! Being born into the Faith, I am always inspired by the story of those who found it on their own. I cannot thank you enough for this book." — Shohreh Mansouri

"Intriguing and wonderful stories of how every-day people found this emerging world faith. Put a smile on my face after every story." — Customer review from amazon.com

"Great stories. They tell the unique journey to faith by various peoples from diverse walks of life. It is stirring to learn how people so different from each other, from such differing backgrounds, find peace and unity in the Bahá'í community." — Customer review from amazon.com

"I LOVED your book Once to Every Man and Nation. I've read it twice and am sure I will read it again because I love the inspiration in those stories. Thank you for your work." — Kellie Heath

*"A heart-warming collection of true stories, of interest to Bahá'ís and to those who are making their own search. The contributors to 'Once to Every Man and Nation' come from all over North America and represent a wide variety of cultural, racial, social and ethnic backgrounds. Young and old, black and white, each with a different experience of life, their very diversity demonstrates the universal appeal of the Bahá'í teachings. W*ill be enjoyed by many believers…should inspire readers…thoroughly recommend it." — Bahá'í Reviewing Panel of the United Kingdom

* * * * *