What People Are Saying

"I'm teaching 8-11 year-olds in my children's class with the new Ruhi 3a, and the next 10 lesson plans are on the Manifestations of God. I ran out of ideas for projects for the kids, so this is really going to save some planning time. Also, from the theme book on 'God and the Universe' - I used the levels of creation and the prayer activities and the kids enjoyed that too. The use of visuals keeps their attention!" — Patsy O'Connor

"Easy to follow, easy to use, creative and wonderful!" — Juli Redson-Smith, Teacher

"Thank you SO much! These are great ideas that children will love. I'm going to prepare my own samples and take them to Haiti. Perhaps I can get pictures of the children there doing some of the art projects and share those with you. Then you'll see the waves of your own teaching pass around the globe! Big Hug!" — Judy Rector, Educational Trainer working with the Mona Foundation and Anis Zunuzi School in Haiti

"Alláh'u'Abhá! I wanted to write and thank you for having my kiddo at the children's retreat last weekend, and also to let you know that he absolutely LOVED it. He has talked about it constantly, casually dropping references like: "At the retreat we learned..." and "When we were at the children's retreat we did..."; or, during our morning prayers, "Hey! We read that at the retreat!" He says he wants us to make sure we bring him to the next one ourselves, so we can see the cool place where they have the retreats! I attribute that in great measure to your creation of an atmosphere and setting that was safe, encouraging, structured and comfortable. Thank you!" — Linda Cook, Parent

"You don't know how excited my kids are!!! They love the classes and they come home inspired to do something for the Faith. Thank you! Thank you!" — Carmen Zorich, Parent

"I would like the kids to share what they learned at the retreat at Feast this Thursday. What an amazing weekend. You will be blessed eternally for this service. I am truly grateful." — Lynn Haug, Parent

"I am a frequent adult volunteer at the 'beta test' children's retreats hosted by UnityWorks in central Washington - the practical setting in which the final adjustments and refinements are made to each book before publishing. At each retreat, I can't help but notice that EVERY single child and parent is more than satisfied with the educational materials prepared for them, the good vibes in general...the whole experience really. Without fail, participants emerge from these joyous events glowing with positive feedback, and the same old question, every single time: "When can we do this AGAIN?" — Flash Jordan, Youth Volunteer
