What People Are Saying

"I love this book! It is a great way to teach children about the faith in a fun easy way. The songs, lesson plans and art projects are detailed, easy to follow, and as much fun to learn as to teach. This is one in a series that can be utilized by any level of educator from novice to experienced. It complements other curriculums quite well, and is the perfect tool to add to any teacher's toolbox. I highly recommend this book and the others in the series." — Leyli Woodfield

"I have been using the book on The Bab as we prepare for His Bicentenary with our children and Junior Youth. Thank you for such a GREAT resource...very detailed and comprehensible. I can't tell you how much I appreciate your work." — Bernadette Torhan

"An amazing and easy to use curriculum - no teaching experience needed!! Kids love the activities!!" — Sue Lieberman Walker, Middle School Teacher

"Haven was very excited to share all the facts he had learned about the Báb. He also helped me to host the Birth of the Báb holy day. It was marvelous! He gave a presentation about his Gate craft project. He still had the quote memorized and he did it just like he did the night of the performance. Then he gave a short talk with twenty facts about the Báb. We were all really proud of him and it was fun to watch him be so excited about it!" — Valerie Stephenson

"A wonderful guide for creating meaningful learning experiences for children. I've seen it create heart-to-heart connections among children from differing cultures and traditions. Kids of all ages need spiritual nourishment. These lessons help fill the need." — Mary Morphet-Brown

"For those of us who homeschool our kids, we have the bounty of LOTS of time to work with them and the challenge of almost no available curriculum. Believe me, this question has come up many times. So each family is left to make things up, which isn't necessarily a bad thing, but it's exhausting trying to be creative every day and it would be such a relief to have a nicely laid out, flexible, and systematic curriculum to work through. So thank you, thank you, thank you for your efforts!" — Genesta Zarehbin, Homeschool Parent

"Thank you for all your book writing and sharing ideas with us. I just used your book for our summer camp and it was amazing and I did not have to reinvent the wheels of fun and education. Keep it up." — Cometrock Stone

"Such wonderful books for children's activities. Everybody is raving and the kids are loving them. Thank you for such a beautiful job." — Zabine Van Ness
