What People Are Saying

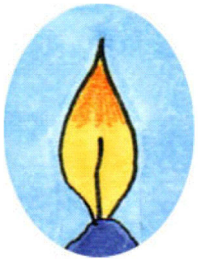

"I loved learning about Bahá'u'lláh's life. I loved it dearly. I told my teacher at school about it. About how I went to a retreat for the weekend, and we learned about the Promised One, which is Bahá'u'lláh. People knew He was special. Bahá'u'lláh attracted many followers and the king was angry. But Bahá'u'lláh did not care because He had a mission. No one else had the braveness to do it. So many people loved Bahá'u'lláh, the king knew he could not win. So that is what I told my teacher. It felt so good to spread the news and have more people learn about the Baha'i Faith."
— Jamie, age 9

"My children had their best Baha'i experience to date. Both in their opinion and mine. They have attended many Baha'i children's classes, but I was astounded and amazed at how much they knew about Baha'u'llah after only one weekend. Not only did they rant and rave about how fun the experience was, but they were really excited about Baha'u'llah and clearly had a different and deeper understanding than before. I would not have guessed that they would have their most fun and most deepening experience at the same event." — Jayotta Jefferson Feimoefiafi, Parent

"I was honored to be able to participate in a weekend retreat on the theme of Baha'u'llah: The Glory of God. It was an amazing experience not only for me, but for my 8-year-old daughter. As a teacher, I appreciated the extensive planning and preparation of all the lessons and activities with room for flexibility. A perfect mix for helping a diverse group of children learn to love Baha'u'llah! There was room for each child to learn, grow and most of all have so much fun!" — Jana Breitsprecher, Parent

"Both my grandsons really enjoyed the weekend and are very much looking forward to the next one. They learned a lot! They liked the food, and archery was high on the list of favorite activities. Moelika told us in great detail about the story of Bahá'u'lláh and described his learning experience at the stations in the orchard. I love the great variety of approaches and activities. Very impressive. Tala (my granddaughter) said what she liked most was when she got to volunteer to go up front!!! She also loved the play and the quiz. Parents are impressed and happy. THANK YOU!" — Lani Diessner, Grandparent

"Randie Gottlieb succeeds yet again! This course provides students and parents with attractive, interactive, informative, and enjoyable learning journeys. My grandchildren will relish this." — Dr. Kurt Hein, Educator
